1. Header

Who writes it: Tricorder fills it; the operator signs it.

To. Partners

OPERATOR WRITES From: [the operator]. The operator signs the memo.

Date. 2026-10-23

Re. Hollis Voice, Series A. Stage read from 01_overview/pitch_deck.pdf, slide 1.

GAP Not in the readout yet: the raise and the pre-money valuation.

Room data. The latest month the claims cover is 2026-09.

Version. Shared version 3. Made from version 2.

Synthetic. Synthetic data room for Deal Flow NYC 2026. Not a real company.

2. Summary and the ask

Who writes it: Tricorder drafts; the operator writes the recommendation line.

GAP Not in the readout yet: what the company does and what it is raising, in its own words.

OPERATOR WRITES Recommendation: [the operator writes this].

GAP Not in the readout yet: 11 of 12 scans. Built from redflags. Not run: comps, signals, video, claims, readings, model, frameworks, founders, presence, outside, bank. The flags below are the ones found so far.

GAP Not in the readout yet: the top green and red flags.

Flag: MRR. monthly_metrics.csv shows MRR of $186,739 for 2026-09. The subscription rows add to $171,739. The $15,000 difference is 8.7% of subscription MRR and equals the non-subscription lines: Marlow Veterinary Group (Pilot, $15,000). Months over tolerance: 2026-08, 2026-09. Mislabel kind a: non-recurring revenue in MRR.[1]

Flag: ARR. The deck's ARR of $2,500,000 (slide 3) differs from the P&L's $2,240,868 (12 x 'Recurring revenue (subscription plus pilot)' for 2026-09), a gap of 11.6%.[2]

6. Business model and unit economics

Who writes it: Tricorder.

GAP Not in the readout yet: the verdict for unit economics.

The P&L row "Subscription revenue" matches subscription revenue in the customer file in all 21 actual months (largest difference $0). Billings differ from revenue by more than 1.0% in 18 of those months, which annual plans paid up front explain on their own. scans/redflags/mislabels.py summed the columns in the header row cited.[3]

Ledger lines tie to P&L cost of revenue plus operating expenses in all 21 actual months (largest difference $0). No ledger line names a contractor, consultant, freelancer, agency or statement of work.[4]

Billed but not yet earned at 2026-09: $104,876 across 28 customers. The P&L row "Subscription revenue" does not exceed revenue earned in any month, and ARR_Build Subscription ARR ($2,060,868) is 12 times 2026-09 subscription revenue. scans/redflags/mislabels.py summed the columns in the header row cited.[5]

One-time fees of $9,500 in 2026-09 are not in the mrr column: the gap between mrr and subscription MRR is $15,000, not the fee total, and the ARR_Build row "Onboarding fees" counts $0 of ARR.[6]

CHECKLIST Checklist. At Series A, this section's 4 checklist items: 1 found, 3 not checked yet.

7. Traction and customers

Who writes it: Tricorder.

GAP Not in the readout yet: the verdict for traction and revenue, retention and customers.

MRR. monthly_metrics.csv shows MRR of $186,739 for 2026-09. The subscription rows add to $171,739. The $15,000 difference is 8.7% of subscription MRR and equals the non-subscription lines: Marlow Veterinary Group (Pilot, $15,000). Months over tolerance: 2026-08, 2026-09. Mislabel kind a: non-recurring revenue in MRR.[7]

ARR. The deck's ARR of $2,500,000 (slide 3) differs from the P&L's $2,240,868 (12 x 'Recurring revenue (subscription plus pilot)' for 2026-09), a gap of 11.6%.[8]

The deck's revenue chart on slide 3 has 21 bars for 2025-01 to 2026-09; their shape matches 'Recurring revenue (subscription plus pilot)' in the P&L (largest difference 0.4 points of the tallest bar).[9]

The revenue chart on slide 3 starts at 2025-01, the first revenue month in the books, and runs to 2026-09 with no month left out.[10]

The deck's plan growth of 3.5% a month (slide 11) matches the model's plan columns, which grow 3.50% to 3.50% a month. It is a plan, not a period the books hold as actuals.[11]
