Market

- About 28,000 independent veterinary clinics in the United States (company estimate).
- At about $9,000 a year per clinic, that is a market near $252,000,000 (company estimate).
- Chains already have call centers. Independent clinics do not.

Competition

Answering services

People read a script and take a message. No booking, no refills.

Generic AI receptionists

Built for any business. They do not know a vet clinic's calls.

Practice software add-ons

Tied to one system and rarely answer the phone well.

Hollis Voice

Built for vet clinics: vaccine reminders, refills and emergency routing.
